

I urge you to get (HB5285) out to be passed for several reasons.

Schools must be a reliable source of current knowledge in science, climate change and civics. Our concern for the common good is eroded. Opinion has replaced knowledge. We must truly educate our kids, enliven their best instincts to save the planet and our communities large and small. We need to support their personal success with improved financial literacy. Now!

Thank you for championing this bill,

Kate Wessling, M.D.
